Day1 Toronto-Ottawa

In the morning, we will depart from Toronto, heading towards the Capital of Canada-Ottawa. We will first visit the Canada Science and Technology Museum (fee apply). With an investment of 80 million dollars and 3 years of construction, the museum has been completely rebuilt to showcase Canada's rich history and innovative achievements in science and technology with a new look. 11 exhibition areas are filled with interactive exhibits for visitors to play with sensory illusions, observe low temperatures, fireworks experiments, and more. It's novel, fun, and full of popular spots for taking photos. At night, we will have the chance to enjoy a Raclette Ssavoyarde (fee apply). dinner.

Day2 Ottawa - Canadian Museum of Nature - Byward Market – Toronto

In the morning, we will continue exploring the beauty of tulip around Ottawa, which is known as "Tulip Capital". In 1945, the Dutch royal family sent 100,000 tulip bulbs to Ottawa in gratitude for Canadians having sheltered the future Queen Juliana and her family for the preceding three years during the Nazi occupation of the Netherlands in the Second World War.

Since then, Netherland will send over 10,000 tulip bulbs to Ottawa every year, which have accumulated to over 1 million tulips in Ottawa.

We will then visit Byward Market. It is a buzzing hub of outdoor farmers' market stalls and specialty food shops. Notably, there is a cookie name after former-president of United State Obama.

Proceed to the Canadian Museum of Nature (fee apply). Afterwards, we will return to Toronto, ending the tours to the largest Tulip Festive in the world.
